Staffing Changes- Bob Bower, our hydrologist, has secured what looks like an exciting hydrology position in New Zealand. He and his family anticipate moving in February. We greatly appreciate Bob’s work to improve the watershed and the many projects he has initiated. We are actively seeking an experienced hydrologist to continue the WWBWC science and aquifer restoration programs.

Oregon Solutions Team and the Milton-Freewater Levee update – The Water Control District is still trying to secure adequate liability insurance.

Columbia Basin Water Transaction Program – the WWBWC is developing a proposal to implement local water transactions, including necessary mapping and diversion and stream flow monitoring.

BPA Proposal for 2010-2012 – WWBWC are starting to develop projects to be implemented with BPA funding through 2012. Projects will include irrigation efficiency, automated management of diverted water, irrigation diversion improvements, aquifer recharge, and effectiveness monitoring.
